PROFILE

I am a hard-working, motivated self-confessed geek. I enjoy challenging myself, especially learning new methodologies that develop into awesome end results. Alternatively, I thrive working as part of a team, taking on a larger task and combining different talents as one to create something amazing.

INTERESTS

Gaming & Comic's

Gaming & comics are portals to other worlds, whether taking on storm troopers with friends, or reading about the Flash's latest adventures.

Freja

Freja is my three year old daughter who is totally nuts. It's awe-inspiring to watch her grow and develop. Hopefully she will become a true geek like myself.

Development

I love the coding side of the computer world, websites, app's and even games. The ability to talk the computers language and to be able to construct something that can be viewed and even interacted with.

Japan

Japanese culture and history fascinate me, their way of life is really intriguing. I have travelled to a few parts of Japan and it was incredible.
